The Writers' Colony at Dairy Hollow Presents the "Ground Zero Self-Published Author"
Workshop by Joylynn M. Ross

The Writers' Colony at Dairy Hollow (WCDH) is proud to present the "Ground Zero Self-Published Author" workshop instructed by bestselling Author and Publishing Coach, Joylynn M. Ross. The course will be held from 10:00 am to noon on Saturday, July 31, at the Writers' Colony at Dairy Hollow, 515 Spring Street in Eureka Springs. The cost of the workshop is $40. All proceeds from this workshop will benefit the WCDH scholarship fund providing financial aid to emerging writers and marginalized voices for writing residencies. Scholarships are awarded on an as-needed basis depending on availability.

Do you have a story, message, or idea you want to share with the world in the form of a book, but you don't know where or how to get started? Considering self-publishing but you want to learn what the publishing process looks like, the steps involved, how long it takes, and how much it's going to cost? This course will provide the information you need to help decide if writing and self-publishing a book is right for you.

The goal of this course is to teach the novice or aspiring author the steps, money, and the time it will take to write and self-publish a book. Learn how to get started on the writing and publishing journey. This workshop starts at ground zero, covering the cost of an editor, how long the editing process takes, getting an ISBN and bar-code, printing options, printing costs, and much more. A small investment on this course will save you time and money on what can be a cumbersome and overwhelming process. If you are on the fence about writing and self-publishing a book, this course will help you decide.

No previous writing or publishing experience needed for you to attend, benefit, and receive value from this course. WCDH is providing the space for you to learn how and where to get started on your writing and publishing journey. All you need to do is bring your preferred method to take notes, and your desire to learn what it takes to begin the journey of sharing your written words with the world!
